Hague, September 3. Herewith you will receive the Line of Battle of the Enemy's Army in Flanders commanded by the Duke of Vendome, which shews the Names and Posts of all the general Officers. The Prince of Nassau Siegen, who about a Month ago came thither to prosecute by Law his Pretensions to the House of Orange, (which Pretensions he set forth in a Book that he caus'd to be publish'd here at his Arrival) having by a Memorial oblig'd the States General to grant him their Protection, have granted it to him and his Domestick Servants. He also desir'd that he might be allow'd to keep his Residence in the Castle of Brissa, or in the House of Orange at Brussels; offering to employ it after a fair Tryal at Law his Pretensions should be set aside as invalid. To induce the States to permit him to reside in either of those Places, he represented, that the King of Prussia is in possession of several of the late King William's Houses, as the Prince of Nassau Frileland is of Loo. But the States have not thought fit to comply with this Demand. 'Tis suppos'd this Prince was alarm'd and quicken'd to ask the Protection of the States, by a Passage in a Memorial concerning the Succession of Orange presented to the States the 12th of August, by Barron Schmertau the Prussian Minister; which Passage is as follows, "His Prussian Majesty will not condescend to make any Reply to a certain printed Libel publish'd in the Name of the Prince of Nassau Siegen, and which for the indecent Expressions in it deserves another Answer than can be given by the Pen. The Day the Bishop of Paderborn was chosen Bishop of Munster, viz. the 30th of last Month, he wrote a Letter to the States to notify his Election to them, and in it inform'd them, That the 15 Canons who are for the Bishop of Osna-brug, and who did not appear at his Election, publish'd a Placard in Opposition to it, in which they forbid all the Subjects of Munster to own him for their Bishop; which Placard had such an Influence upon Lieutenant General Swarts Commander in Chief of the Troops garrison'd in Munster, that though the 20 Canons who chose the Bishop of Paderborn issued repeated Orders to him to send a certain Number of Men to attend them at the Chapter-House, as well for State as Security, during the Election; he would not obey them, nor suffer any of his Officers to do it.
